PRODUCT MANAGEMENT CHALLENGE | FINAL PROJECT

Combating Loneliness in an Increasingly Digital World

The context

As digitalization changes how people work, socialize, and build relationships, many individuals struggle to form meaningful connections and find a sense of belonging in their communities.

The opportunity

A market opportunity has been identified for a product that helps people build meaningful social connections and strengthen their sense of community.

Your task

Using all the frameworks, concepts, and learnings covered over the last nine lectures, develop your product from opportunity identification to launch. Apply what you believe is important to understand the problem, define the product, and bring your solution to life and take it to market.

All the best!
